From Hiroshima to Moffitt: Radiation, CTs and Cancer

Brad Monash, MD
Assistant Clinical Professor, Division of Hospital Medicine
University of California, San Francisco

Learning Objectives:
1. To provide background information on the theories driving current concerns. B) To empower clinicians with the perspective to consider risks/benefits of CT scanning in different scenarios.

Inpatient management of IBD

Fernando Velayos, MD
Associate Professor, Department of Gastroenterology
University of California, San Francisco

Learning Objectives:
1. Describe initial medical management of hospitalized patient with UC
2. Describe why SONIC study is an important study in the management of Crohn’s disease
3. Describe pro’s/ cons current modalities available to image the small bowel in Crohn’s